Schneider Electric applies Acti 9 technology in the form of circuit breakers, surge protection devices and residual current devices. Network infrastructure and connectivity we live in a rapidly developing world whereby staying connected to the Internet has become indispensable. In fact, we consider stable connectivity as a natural part of life and it has become basically as essential as the supply of energy and water. The high-performance network connectivity products offered by Schneider Electric ensure that your need for fast and reliable Internet connection is met. Enjoy perfect online gaming, live streams and high-speed downloads with Schneider Electric's LexCom Home networking solution. The components cover all functions to meet high expectations about network resources in a modern home. SMARTLINK ELEC Schneider Electric Malaysia also allows you to run your business more efficiently, allowing you to stay connected to your electrical installation. For companies that rely heavily on electricity-powered equipment such as restaurants, bakeries, etc., owners' ability to continuously monitor electrical installation is vital. You can monitor and control the electrical circuit directly from your smartphone, thanks to the Acti 9 Smartlink ELEC technology offered by the brand. Smartlink ELEC converts your power plant into a communication system as the software captures installation information and provides data to the cloud for analysis and processing. Owners will be able to view actionable data only from their smartphone and take the necessary steps to fix any problems and operate their business more efficiently. Smartlink ELEC provides real-time 24/7 connection to the electrical installation or enhanced safety and more efficient energy efficiency.
